Drilling 101

A field trip to a drilling rig and tour of a production site

Thank you for your interest in learning more about the natural gas production process. Your field trip will take approximately three hours and will include the following:

A brief presentation on “Drilling 101” inside Chesapeake Plaza. This is a preview of the process and a good time to ask questions, since it’s harder for everybody to hear when out in the elements and separated. You’ll be asked to sign a liability waiver and be loaned a hard hat and glasses to take with you to wear on the tour.

A visit to an active drilling rig. Because our rigs are always on the move, the exact location may not be determined until the day before your field trip. We will have driving directions available and will carpool from Chesapeake Plaza due to limited parking spaces at the drilling site.

A tour of a production site. The drilling rig is temporary, but the production site is here for decades. It’s important for you to see what equipment is actually left behind and how much space it takes.

In order to clear security, please arrive 15 minutes before your designated start time. Wear washable clothes that are appropriate for outdoor weather, and sturdy, close-toed, low-heeled shoes. No shorts or sandals are allowed. Sites are not ADA accessible. Participants who are inappropriately dressed or unable to walk without assistance and climb narrow stairs will be asked to remain in their vehicles at the drilling site.

Please remain with your group at all times, and request permission from the drilling superintendent before taking any photographs. We would appreciate your returning the hard hats and safety glasses at the end of the tour.

For this field trip, you may park in the main visitor lot at Chesapeake Plaza, 100 Energy Way, Fort Worth, TX 76102. For directions to the building, set your GPS to 5th and Summit. Please contact Twila Christy with any questions.

Your field trip date: September 14, 2010
