

2018 United States Energy Award Recipients

JACK N. GERARD

President & Chief Executive Officer
American Petroleum Institute

THOMAS R. KUHN

President
Edison Electric Institute

The United States Energy Award Selection Committee will present Jack Gerard, President and Chief Executive Officer of American Petroleum Institute and Thomas Kuhn, President of Edison Electric Institute with the United States Energy Association 2018 United States Energy Award.

The two were selected for their unparalleled contribution and leadership in the energy sector, and their support of the United States Energy Association. Gerard and Kuhn have advanced global energy initiatives. They join a roster of past recipients and prominent leaders who have transformed the industry to the benefit of all citizens.

Jack Gerard is President and Chief Executive Officer of the American Petroleum Institute, the national trade association that represents the oil and gas sector, which conducts outreach on public policy, standards and certification programs, and industry best practices.

Tom Kuhn is President of the Edison Electric Institute, the association that represents all U.S. investor-owned utilities. EEI's members provide electricity to 220 million Americans, operate in all 50 states and the District of Columbia, and directly employ more than 500,000 workers. In addition, EEI has 70 international electric companies as international members, and 270 industry suppliers and related organizations as associate members.

The awards will be presented during the USEA Annual Membership Meeting and Public Policy Forum on Thursday, April 12, 2018 in Rotunda of the Ronald Reagan Building & International Trade Center, located at 1300 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC.

To register for the Annual Meeting, please visit the events webpage at www.usea.org.

Contact:

Kim Grover
United States Energy Association
202-312-1230

www.usea.org